

screaming

Sometimes kids scream.

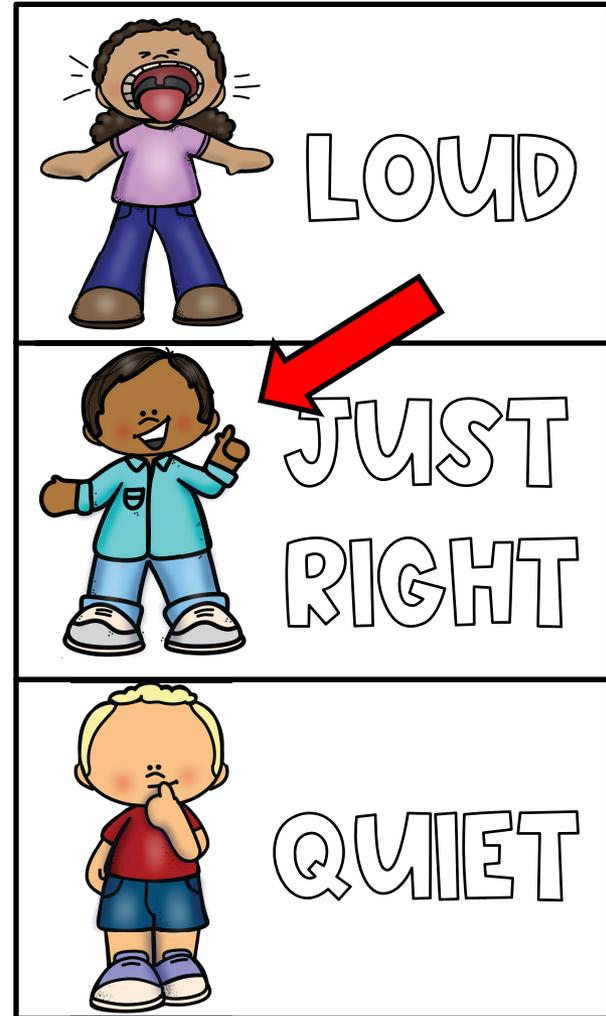

Loud screams hurt other people's ears.

This is loud.

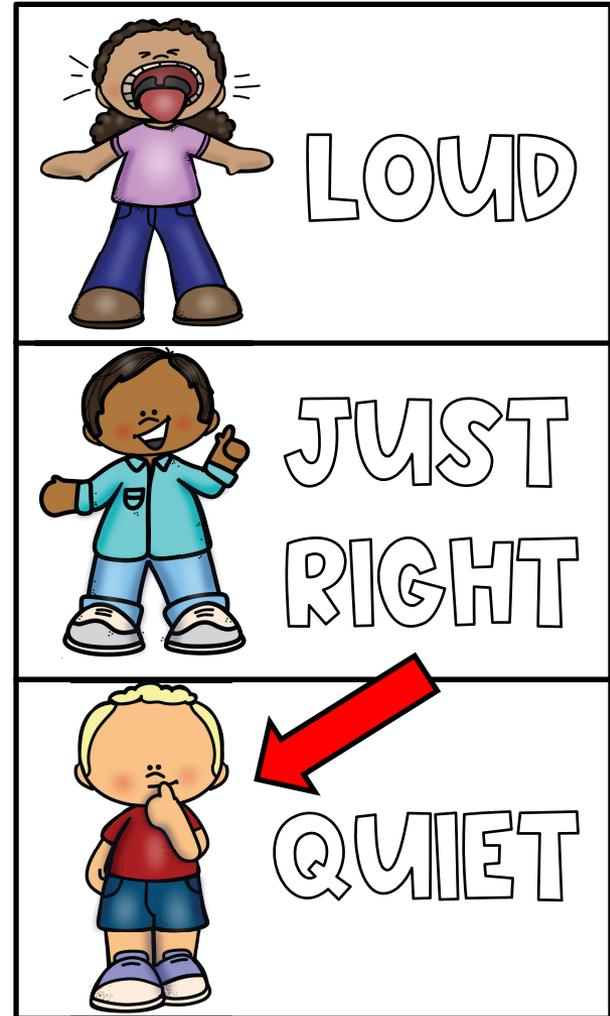

Other times, kids talk in a just right voice.

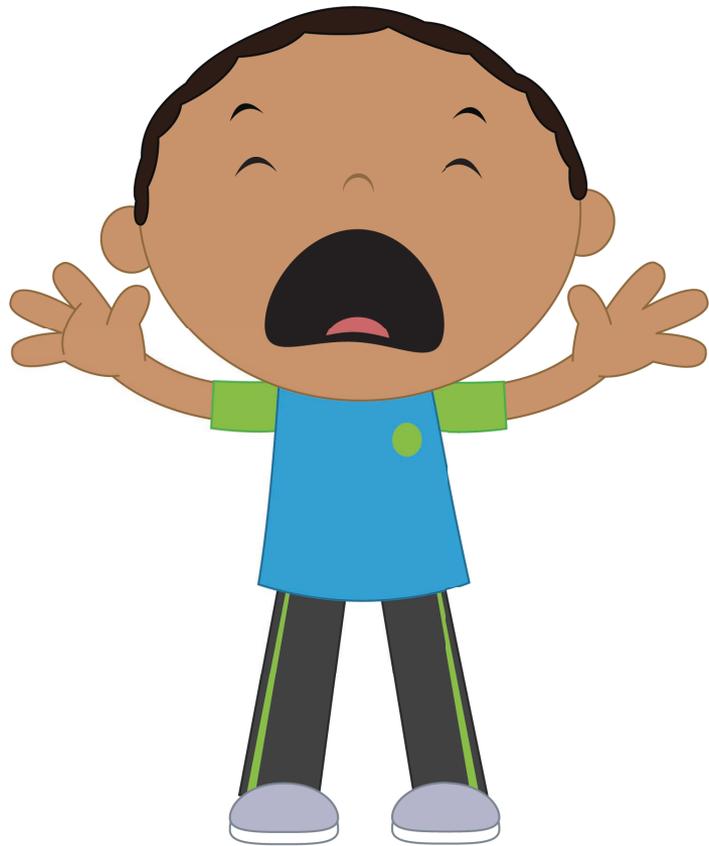

This is just right.

There are also times where kids are very quiet.

This is quiet.

A very loud voice is called a scream.

It is okay to scream
if I am hurt or in danger.

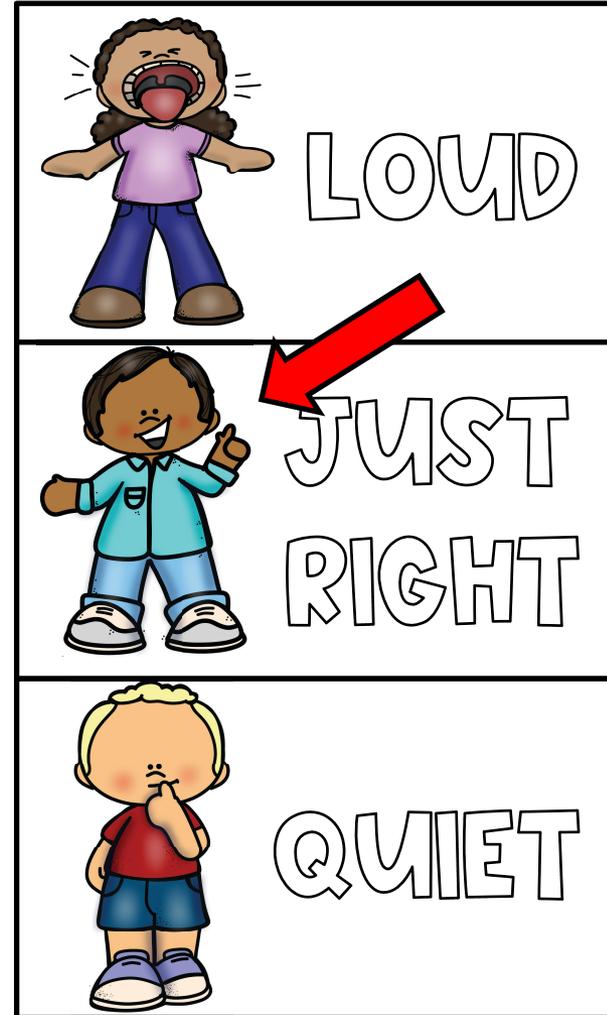

Usually, I should try to use
a just right voice.

Sometimes I might be asked to whisper or use a quiet voice.

My family and teachers will help remind me which voice to use at different times.

Voices can be loud, just right or quiet. It can be fun to practice these voices with my family.

Cut the voice volume card and arrow out to use as a visual support. Have fun practicing the different voice volumes in a playful way. Once the child understands the visual support, you can use it to proactively prepare them or use it to remind them about which voice level to use.

Terms Of Use

AUTISM little LEARNERS

Resources and ideas for families and educators

This product is free, and I give you permission to distribute, copy and use as you wish. When able, give credit to Autism Little Learners or Tara Tuchel and refer people to my website: www.autismlittlelearners.com

Connect!

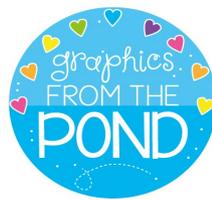

AUTISM little LEARNERS

WEBSITE/BLOG

Instagram

Credits

Thank you for purchasing this activity from my store! I hope you find these materials as useful as I have in my classroom. Be sure to come back for newly added products!

Thank You!

♥ tara TUCHEL

Speech/Language Pathologist